Oklahoma City voters continue to invest in improvements that support downtown retail

Maps3

In 2009, Oklahoma City voters approved a one-cent sales tax expected to raise $777 million by 2017 to fund a 70-acre downtown park, a new downtown convention center, Oklahoma river improvements, a modern streetcar/transit system and other public projects. This extends the Maps initiative, begun in 1994, to revitalize downtown Oklahoma City and Maps for Kids, begun in 2002, for facility improvements for Oklahoma county schools.

Project 180

A $176 million redesign of downtown streets, sidewalks, parks and plazas to make the central core more pedestrian friendly. Plans include the promotion of a retail corridor along Park Avenue between Broadway and Harvey Avenue.

Core to Shore

Plan to redevelop 750 acres of under utilized land between downtown Oklahoma City and the Oklahoma river.
